Shipyard To Locate In County

Hancock County Supervisors accepted a proposal Monday from a Houston firm to establish a shipyard at the Port Blenville industrial park.

Port and Harbor Commission President Dr. John Levens appeared before the board with a commission resolution agreeing to sell 40 acres of land to Jackson Landing Shipyard, Inc. which plans a barge manufacturing and repair facility. According to a Port and Harbor release, the facility will ultimately employ between 300 and 400 persons in both service and manufacturing jobs. The initial phase of the development, which will entail topside repair of barges, is expected to be completed within 120 days after consummation of the sale contract. The proposal also outlined construction of a marine railway and barge manufacturing plant on the site which is located adjacent to the industrial canal.

The corporation will construct a railroad spur at its own expense from the main line of the Port Blenville Railroad to the shipyard site. County commitments include sewerage and water service to the property line as well as a hard surface road to the plant. The negotiated sale price of the property totaled $100,000 at $2,500 per acre, with a 36 month option for an additional 52 acres.

Beat Five Supervisor James Travira raised an objection to a request for a five percent real estate and finder's fee filed by former Supervisor Russell Elliott. The supervisors maintained that they had no knowledge of the requested fees when they discussed the matter with Port and Harbor commissioners at a Thursday night meeting. Although a letter of fee request from Elliott was dated June 4, Board President Alton Kellar stated that the letter was not received until Friday, after the sale resolution was drawn up.

Former Port and Harbor director Charles Hill, who was representing the shipyard company as a consulting engineer, admitted that Elliott had been instrumental in inducing the company to locate in Hancock County, rather than in Mobile or Biloxi, but stated that he was under the impression that county officials were aware of Elliott's fee request.

Dr. Levens pointed out that payment of finder's fees was not in the Port and Harbor convenants. "I don't know how this is going to fit into the final arrangements," Levens said, "as the commission does not have sufficient funds to pay a five percent fee."

Elliott, who also attended the meeting, said that payment of such fees was authorized in the original P&H covenants, but was "not aware of any changes you all may have made since then."

Kellar interjected that the board had made repeated requests for a copy of the P&H covenants but had yet to receive them.

Elliott urged the board not to let the matter of fees serve as a deterrent to acceptance of the proposal, stating: "The fees can be worked out later or I'll be willing to forego a fee as I want to see the county get this industry."

Hill then told the board, "Before we bring this company into the county I want to make it perfectly clear that if there is going to be any political hassle involved, we'll bow out and establish the plant somewhere else."

When he was director of the Port and Harbor, Hill said, there was always "some political hassle which eventually ruined every business coming in."

On the suggestion of P&H attorney Gerald Gex supervisors passed a motion to accept the sale resolution, with an option pending a meeting of the presidents of the board of supervisors, the P&H commission and Jackson Landing Shipyard, to work out all details of the negotiation.

Funds Grounded For Airport Extension

The seemingly ill-fated runway extension project at Stennis International Airport suffered another setback Monday when the Mississippi Commission on Budgeting and Accounting denied a Hancock County Board of Supervisors' petition to use Governor's Emergency Council funds for certification as matching funds.

The more than $2 million project to extend the present 4,500 foot runway another 1,500 feet has run into difficulty since the county's application for a $1 million grant from the federal government. Substantial funding anticipated from the Economic Development Administration was lost through an application foul-up some months ago.

Appeals by Port and Harbor officials to various sources for $300,000 needed to match a Federal Aviation Administration grant proved futile. Fighting a June 30, 1973 deadline for FAA assistance, county supervisors agreed to use GEC money allocated for other county programs, only to certify the needed funds until a sale of industrial revenue bonds could be effected. The bonds would be retired through state tax rebates with no tax increase to county residents. Permission to use GEC monies was denied by the Budgeting and Accounting Commission on the basis that those funds must be used only for hurricane-related projects.

An alternative resolution by the county board, requesting withholding an additional one mill for 25 years, under House Bill 1402, was returned with a suggestion that the board resubmit the application with changes in the project.

Bids received in the initial opening in May were all in excess of the engineer's estimate and were rejected by the commission.

In an unrelated matter, supervisors Monday unanimously approved expenditures of $205,831 in revenue sharing funds for the period January 1 - June 30, 1973, as follows: public safety, $11,220; social services for the aged and poor, $7,204; financial administration, $4,116; transportation, $144,075; courtroom capital improvements, $6,176; courts, $8,233; youth detention, $6,146; environmental protection, $12,349; libraries, $7,024.

Bay Adopts Civil Service

Bay St. Louis Commission Council voted unanimously Monday to bring all salaried city employees under Civil Service.

Those who will be covered by Civil Service include salaried personnel in the city's fire department, police department, clerical workers, street department, sanitation and drainage department, department of public works, and the department of recreation.

A civil service commission will be appointed by the council Monday at 7 p.m.

In other business, the council approved $41,000 allotment to the city Parks and Playgrounds Commission to help defray costs of repairing the American Legion pier damaged during a recent storm.

Have You Been Shot Lately?

All children who will register for school this September should have all immunizations and a skin test for tuberculosis prior to registration according to the Hancock County Health Department.

Proper immunizations can be obtained through private physicians or at the local health department on Dunbar Ave., in Bay St. Louis. Clinics are held for this purpose every Monday from 8:30 a.m. to noon and on Thursdays from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The health department also announced that all employees of public, private and parochial school systems are required by state law to take the tuberculosis skin test within three months prior to the opening of school.

Bay Juvenile Sentenced To Training School

Harry Weston Bourgeois, 16-year-old Bay St. Louis resident, has been sentenced to Oakley Training School for an indefinite period by Hancock County Youth Court, following the boy's fourth arrest.

Bourgeois, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bourgeois of Rt. 2, Box 550, Bay St. Louis, was adjudicated a delinquent child for the fourth time by the juvenile court, authorizing publication of his name by the newspaper.

FIGURES WRONG

In an article on repair costs to Hancock North Central School last week, the Echo misquoted contractor Mel Villere's estimate of $1,000 each to repair two rest rooms in a section of the school building. The Echo erroneously reported the cost estimated as being $18,000 for each room or a total of about $32,000.

The Echo regrets this error.

Kids--Take Your Pick Of Summer Activities

Any Bay St. Louis youngster who complains that "there's nothing to do", doesn't want to do anything!

Because through the combined efforts of the City Parks and Playground Commission and St. Stanislaus Brothers, just about every kind of recreational activity possible is available free to all the city's youngsters.

The Bay-Waveland Auxiliary got things off to a good start with its Summer Fun House the first week in June. A sizeable group of children attends the community program which is conducted by the Auxiliary every summer.

A free tennis clinic, open to all city youngsters, is conducted by Brother Pascal at St. Stanislaus School every weekday from 8 to 10 a.m. throughout the entire summer.

The tennis program has grown so in popularity in the past two years that St.

Pascal has had to appeal to the Parks and Playgrounds Commission for help.

Close to 100 children turn out each morning for lessons necessitating additional instructors and courts. An amendment to the already taxed commission budget was made to provide instructors at three locations throughout the city as well as a supply of tennis rackets and balls.

Echo Editorial Page Judged Best In State

The editorial page of The Sea Coast Echo has been judged number one in the State over all weeklies in competition in the Mississippi Press Association 1973 Better Newspaper Contest.

Results were announced this weekend at the MPA annual convention at Pete Fountain's Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi.

In making the first place presentation to the Echo, the judges emphasized that the editorial pages should be a forum for all segments of the community.

"The Echo's pages are especially praiseworthy for the volume of letters to the editor...always a good sign that a newspaper is causing people to think and exchange ideas," they commented.

"There is good variety of source materials on these pages, locally-detected editorial cartoons and even an editorial picture," the judges concluded.

In other competition, the Echo won an honorable mention award in the Best News Picture category for the photo by Staff Writer Adoree Shortle of the Waveland sewer cave-in.

The judges said that the picture of the workmen digging out a fellow worker had good composition and was well displayed.

All weeklies competed in this category also.

Recognition in the 1973 Better Newspaper Contest also went to the Biloxi-Gulfport Daily Herald with a first place in the General Excellence category; first place in Community Service; first place, Best News Picture; second place, Best Editorial Page; and second place, Best Special Edition. All competition was in the division of dailies.

Pascal conducts free of charge for area youngsters. Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Commission this week agreed to provide funding to expand the popular program to include instructors and equipment at Bay Senior High and Washington St. courts, for children in those neighborhoods. According to the 1970 census figures, there are 138 towns in Mississippi with less than 1,000 population, and there are 36 others with less than 500 population. In fact, the majority of Mississippians live in small towns.

Therefore, many Mississippians will probably find the television program entitled "The Turning Points" interesting, for it examines the fate of small towns in America.

Interested Mississippians may view the program at 9 p.m., Monday, June 18, and at 6 p.m., Wednesday, June 20.

Mississippi Educational Television Network will broadcast at 9 p.m., June 18, "The Son of the Sheik," the second show of the series, "The Silent Years."

A repeat showing of the film will be at 2 p.m., Sunday, June 17, over Channel 19.

Universally acknowledged to be Rudolph Valentino's best as well as his last film, "The Son of the Sheik" was designed as a sequel to the highly-successful 1921 release, "The Sheik."

A modern French television version of "Orpheus in Hell," Offenbach's lively opera parody of the ancient Greek Orpheus legend will be telecast at 8 p.m. June 16.

The opera is the second program of ETV's "International Performance" series of the best music and dance programs collected from overseas television for presentation in America. "Orpheus in Hell" is from Office de Radiodiffusion et Television Francaise (ORTF), the state-run French TV network.

Baha'i Book Given To Local Library

In answer to a growing interest in the Baha'i Faith in Mississippi, the Public Information Committee of the Baha'is of Mississippi has made a presentation of a book, "Baha'u'llah and the New Era" by J.E. Esslemont to the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis.

Dr. Esslemont's text outlines the historical background of the Baha'i Faith and gives a clear exposition of its basic teachings. The Baha'i Faith originated in Iran (now Persia) in 1844. Baha'is believe that in each age God sends a new prophet to reheat religion and to provide the spiritual and social teachings for that age. Its basic teachings include the oneness of God, the oneness of religion, and the oneness of mankind. Today, Baha'i Communities are established in over 333 countries and territories and its World Center is in the Holy Land.

Red Beans And Rice

Adorée Shuttle

An irate housewife called the Echo this week demanding to know how she could "get that Watergate thing off the air and bring the soap operas back."

While some of our citizens are very interested in the revelations at the hearings there are those who are vehement because the networks are preempting the soaps with Watergate.

Red Beans and Rice has a solution which should make both groups happy - continue to televise the hearings but do so in a soap opera atmosphere. Think of the possibilities.

ACT I
(Scene opens on courtroom setting borrowed from the old Perry Mason series. Organ music is heard in background playing, "We've Only Just Begun". Suddenly, Senator Sam Ervin, chairman of the Senate Watergate Investigating Committee calls for order. The Senator speaks. . .)

ERVIN: Gentlemen. Unlike our English brothers across the ocean who are having trouble with a scandal of their own, we are here to find the cause of something which is threatening to break the hearts of every voter in the country. (Flashback - scene now shows Lords Jellicoe and Lambton leaving the House of Lords in London. Picture is hazy and violins are playing, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now?")

(Scene shifts back to courtroom. William McHaldeman, personal valet to G. Huntington Howfield, is seated at the witness desk and is being questioned by Ervin. . .)

ERVIN: Mr. McHaldeman, did you ever at any time find any papers in Mr. Howfield's suits before you took them to the cleaners?

McHALDEMAN: Only once.
ERVIN: What information was on the papers?
McHALDEMAN: Well, on one slip of paper there was the name Laverne and a phone number. . . (Flashback - Laverne and Howfield are having dinner in a cozy inn with a fireplace. In the background, we hear a piano and a woman singing, "My Secret Love".)

(Scene shifts back to courtroom)

ERVIN: And what was on the other slip of paper, Mr. McHaldeman?
McHALDEMAN: It was a notice that Mr. Howfield had a doctor's appointment on June 16, 1972.

(Suddenly a woman jumps up from the audience and begins screaming, "I did it! I did it! I killed him!")

ERVIN: Pardon me, madam, I think you have the wrong show.

(Woman is removed from the courtroom by two guards)

ERVIN: Now, Mr. McHaldeman, what were you saying about a doctor's appointment? (Flashback - Howfield is in doctor's office. Doctor is telling Howfield that although he has an incurable disease, the doctor suggests a visit to the famous incurable disease clinic in Back Bay City. Howfield stares out of the window as a harp plays the theme from "Love Story".)

ANNOUNCER: Tune in tomorrow for the continuing story of "Son of Secret Storm".

Unfortunately, this type of format can be used only for daytime dramas. Red Beans and Rice is having trouble coming up with a sort of "Price Is Right" formula for game-show freaks.

But perhaps the biggest challenge is yet to come. What could the networks come up with when the hearings reemerge the football games? Frightening, isn't it?

BWYC Backwash

by Ann Stiefel 467-4386

For the third successive year the Chapman Memorial Trophy will remain at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. The local team sailed their Scots to a decisive victory over the other three Coast Clubs.

Gulfport Yacht Club was host for the sixteenth annual sailing of the Chapman Regatta. Each of the four participating Mississippi Coast Yachting Association Clubs entered four of their own Flying Scots with four skippers and two crew members in each race. Van Broome and Vince Alfonso served as Race Committee chairmen for the four race series.

The Chapman Regatta is one of the most popular sailing events of the year because it brings together so many members from each of the clubs who enjoy this keen competition to determine the Mississippi Gulf Coast Champion.

The regatta had its beginning back in 1951 when Henry Chapman of BWYC and Wallace Chapman of Biloxi Yacht Club, each a past Commodore and President of Gulf Yachting Association, donated to the newly formed Mississippi Coast Yachting Association a perpetual trophy in memory of their father Will J. Chapman and from the beginning and each year there have been several members of the family sailing in it, ten this year.

Trophies were presented to the first four skippers in each race and to the crew of the first place boat by Vice-Commodore Donald Presley of Gulfport Yacht Club. Commodore Mike Rafferty, PCYC, spoke briefly about the MCYA and its new burgee. Harry Chapman BWYC represented the family at the presentation, giving a short history of the Trophy and Regatta, and presented the winning plaque to his sister, Ann Stiefel, Team Captain for BWYC.

The Bay Waveland skippers, crews and their finishes are as follows:

Another Look At Our Beach...

New here's a nice place to sunbathe. Just put your beach towel down on the sand (?) and hire a guide to take you to the water. This lovely stretch of beach is in Beat Three near Ullman Ave.

One of the nicest tourist attractions in Bay St. Louis is this gasoline tank trailer waiting for someone to take it away. Fortunately, it's located on the beach next to the American Legion pier area in order to allow all visitors and residents a chance to see it.

Grass, grass and more grass near picnic tables on beach at foot of Ullman Ave.

Report from capitol

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Senator John C. Stennis called for a return to "tough, firm wage and price controls" and labeled as "ineffective" the administration's Phase III program to curb inflation.

The Senator said he is "deeply disturbed" about the American economy and said "immediate and firm action by Congress and the Administration" is the only cure.

"When the wage-price freeze was taken off in January, I warned that it was premature and would lead to a new round of dangerous and damaging inflation," Senator Stennis said. "I regret to say that my worst misgivings have come about."

"The so-called 'voluntary restraints' on prices and wages under Phase III have been applied very sparingly, if at all, and such 'restraints' certainly have not been effective."

"Inflation continues to climb, month by month, rapidly eating up the savings and salaries of our citizens."

"The effects of this inflation are painfully evident to anyone who buys almost any article available for sale in the United States. It must be stopped."

Senator Stennis said explanations that "galloping" price increases are merely "seasonal" or "temporary" are no longer believable.

"No matter what the season, prices are climbing and the cause is pervasive and rampant inflation which only firm price-wage controls can stop," Stennis said.

Senator Stennis blamed current international trade problems of this country on inflation, saying it "goes to the heart" of the United States balance of payments deficit.

"Our money is worth less now than it once was when compared to the money of other countries because of inflation here at home," he said.

"International speculators continue to gamble against the dollar, betting that its value will decrease still further."

"All this is happening in spite of the fact that our economy itself, that is our production, is steadily growing and outdistancing every other nation."

Senator Stennis described a proposal to raise taxes as a remedy to spiraling inflation as a "total mistake," saying Americans are already overtaxed.

"...we all know that the government would simply turn right around and spend that new tax money for new programs, thereby putting more money into the economy and pushing inflation back up again," he said.

"It is clear that a far better alternative to raising taxes is to cut down on some of the present excessive big government spending."

"By holding down spending and re-freezing prices and wages, we can get this present runaway inflation under control and get our national economy back on a steady, secure basis," Senator Stennis said.

Chamber Report

By Sylvia McComiskey
Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Manager

The Chamber is compiling a shopper's directory for the convenience of new-comers to our county. This directory lists the business community in the categories of services each business renders.

Congratulations to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for their decisive action on an I-10 billboard advertising Hancock County. This is coming at a critical time and is appreciated by everyone.

Friday, June 8, we attended a meeting at the Gulfport Chamber to formulate plans for a Regional Tourist Promotion Council. This council with representatives from all counties wishing to participate, will work from matching state funds, made available through Senate Bill No. 1787 to formulate advertising and promotional programs to encourage and stimulate tourist travel and vacation business within our region. E. J. Marengo will represent Hancock County on this council and we feel this is a great opportunity to promote our county.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return for the year ending January 1-December 31, 1972
U.S. Treasury Department—Internal Revenue Service

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) My wife and I had over $15,000 in income last year. Does this mean that we cannot take advantage of the increased deduction for child care?

A) No. You may still have a partial deduction. Your deductible child care expenses must be reduced by one-half of the amount by which your adjusted gross income exceeds $18,000 for one year. This means that you may have up to $27,600 in income before your child care deduction is phased out. For more information, see IRS Publication 503, "Child Care and Dependent Care." It's available free by dropping a postcard to your Internal Revenue district office.

Q) I paid someone to prepare my return for 1972. Can I deduct his fee on my 1973 return?

A) No. Since most taxpayers are on the cash basis, practically all deductible expenses, including tax preparer fees, may be deducted only in the year they are paid. Thus, if you itemize deductions, you may deduct on your 1973 return the amount paid in 1973 to have your 1972 return prepared.

Q) I had two jobs last year, and more than the maximum amount of social security tax was withheld from my pay. Can I claim the excess?

A) Yes. If you worked for two or more employers during 1972 and more than $9,000 of your wages were subject to social security tax, you are entitled to claim the excess social security tax as a credit against your income tax. See your tax form instructions for details.

However, if you worked for only one employer during 1972, and more than $468 in social security tax was withheld, you may not claim the excess as an income tax credit. Your employer should adjust this over-collection with you.

Q) How can I tell if a contribution to a particular organization is tax deductible?

A) If you itemize deductions, you may deduct contributions to organizations operated for religious, charitable or educational purposes. Some examples are churches, community chests, nonprofit schools, hospitals, etc. The organization itself should be able to tell you whether contributions made to it are deductible or you may call the IRS.

Q) Where can I get information on tax law changes affecting my 1972 return?

A) Internal Revenue Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax, 1973 edition," describes all the tax law changes affecting your 1972 return. It may be purchased for 75 cents at IRS district offices, Government Printing Office book stores, and many post offices.

Q) I heard that there are five tests that must be met for a taxpayer to claim a person as a dependent. What are they?

A) For a person to qualify as your dependent for 1972, the following tests must be met:

- 1) You must furnish over half of the dependent's total support during the calendar year.
- 2) Unless the person is less than 19 years of age at the end of the year or a full-time student during five months of the year, you may not claim him as a dependent if his gross income is $750 or more.
- 3) The person must be a member of your household and live with you for the entire year or be closely related to you.
- 4) He must be a U.S. citizen or resident, or a resident of Canada, Mexico, American Samoa, Panama Canal Zone or the Republic of Panama for some part of the year; and
- 5) The person must not file a joint return unless one is not due but was filed merely to obtain a refund.

Social Security Information

Lost your social security card? Apply for a duplicate card at any social security office promptly—at least several weeks before you'll need your social security number, according to Joseph S. Alfonso, social security representative in Gulfport.

"An application for a duplicate card is generally screened against files at the national record center in Baltimore to make sure that just one social security number is issued to the same person—and this screening can take time," Mr. Alfonso said. "So to make sure you have your correct social security number and card when you need it to show to an employer when you start a new job, for instance—apply for a duplicate as soon as you know you've lost your social security card."

You can get a duplicate card faster if you've kept a record of your social security number in a safe place, according to Mr. Alfonso. "Then, if you lose the social security card you carry in your purse or wallet, you can furnish your number when you apply for a duplicate and help speed up the screening," he said.

A worker builds retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare hospital insurance protection for himself and his family by work and earnings credited to his social security number.

"Your 9-digit social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life," Mr. Alfonso said. "If you lose your card and get a duplicate you will keep the same number."

"Using more than one social security number could mean you're not getting full credit for your work and earnings," he said. "That could adversely affect your social security payments in the future. If you have more than one social security number, get in touch with any social security office. People there will be happy to set your record straight."

When a worker gets a job covered by social security, he should make sure his employer copies his name and number correctly from his social security card to the employer's records, according to Mr. Alfonso.

More than nine out of 10 jobs are covered by social security.

Br. Pascal will continue at SSC courts where he is assisted by Virginia Wagner, Cathy Ladner, Liz Lagarde and Martin Manthey. In addition, instructors will teach weekdays from 8 to 10 a.m. at the Washington St. playground courts and Bay Senior High courts for the next four weeks under Parks and Playground Comm. sponsorship.

For those who want to swim and don't know how, Br. Albert Ledet offers certified Red Cross swimming instruction at the Stanislaus pool, also every weekday from 9 to 10:30 a.m. for a month. So many children have responded to the swimming program that Br. Albert has divided the young students into three age groups to better facilitate individual attention.

In an effort to provide supervised recreation for little girls seven to 12 years old, the Parks and Playground Comm. has started this year a new Arts and Crafts program to be held in Valens C. Jones building. College students Donna Smith and Gayle Carr will teach handcrafts Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to noon. Registration is set for Monday morning at the former school building.

The biggest single recreational program each summer under commission auspices is traditionally the baseball and softball leagues, involving hundreds of young people from all over the city. J.E. Loiacano is coordinator for the entire program which covers PeeWee teams, Minor League, Little League and softball teams for girls seven to 16 years old.

Men's and women's leagues play night games under individual team sponsors while minor leagues play afternoon schedules and the whole thing is organized and run just like the national leagues. The commission picks up the tab for ball park maintenance, lights, uniforms for the little people who don't have outside sponsors, coaches and umpires and most of the equipment.

For the teenagers who get to "stay out after dark", there are teen dances just about every Friday and Saturday night at the Jaycee-run Youth Center on Uman Ave. Open to all area teens, the dances provide live music by a local rock band at a nominal admission fee; are supervised and well attended.

For children and adults looking for less strenuous pursuits, there's the American Legion pier at the foot of Washington Ave. where one can fish, crab, launch boats, swim or just sit and watch. Jointly maintained by the Legion and the Parks and Playground Comm., the pier is open to the public year round.

Because of the efforts of community leaders, youngsters in this area should have a hard time convincing their parents that they are "bored and have nothing to do".

Three Arrested On Narcotics Charges

Three Waveland residents, one a juvenile, were arrested on narcotics charges in two separate incidents Tuesday night when Hancock County special agents confiscated a quantity of marijuana plants under cultivation at two residences.

About 5 p.m. Special Agents Ronald Peterson and Paul Bernard with Waveland police Eugene Hughes and Ronald Ferrell went to the Waveland home of a 17-year-old boy, where they found about 25 marijuana plants under cultivation in the youth's yard. Acting on a search warrant within the house, agents discovered a small quantity of marijuana, an amphetamine tablet and articles of drug paraphernalia. The youth was placed under arrest and taken to the county jail where he is being held pending action by county juvenile authorities.

Later the same evening, Peterson and Bernard arrested Susan Lewald, 26, and Ronald "Boss" Tanguis, 38, at the Lewald woman's home on similar narcotics charges. Peterson reported a large quantity of marijuana under cultivation in the yard of the house at No. 5 Dubuc Lane. A search of the home revealed a small quantity of marijuana in a bowl and numerous articles of drug paraphernalia.

Tanguis, who gave his address as Rt. 1, Box 349, Waveland, was booked at the county jail on charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. Miss Lewald was charged with possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia, and growing and cultivating marijuana.

Sheriff's deputy Robert Tartavoulle and Constable Terry Tartavoulle assisted in the second arrest.

Both cases are set for a Tuesday night hearing before Justice of the Peace Joe Dobson.

MRS. THELMA SMITH AND HER NINE CHILDREN ACCEPT DELIVERY OF THEIR LATE MODEL NINE PASSENGER WAGON FROM TURAN-LANE CHEVROLET SALESMAN FRITZ PERANICH.

Mrs. Thelma Smith of Pass Christian was in need of a station wagon for transportation for her large family. Since her father and family had bought many cars and trucks from Turan-Lane Chevrolet salesman Fritz Peranich, she got her father to bring her to see Fritz. From Turan-Lane's large selection of late model used cars Mrs. Smith found just what she needed, a late model station wagon. Veteran car salesman Fritz Peranich has been selling cars in Bay St. Louis for many years and his customers keep coming to see him at Turan-Lane Chevrolet and they also send their friends. Mrs. Smith and her family are very happy with her station wagon and liked the very good deal she got from Fritz.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES PARNELL ACCEPTS DELIVERY OF THEIR 1969 CHEVY PICK-UP TRUCK FROM TURAN-LANE CHEVROLET SALESMAN PETE MORAN.

Mr. Parnell, in December of 1972 purchased a 1973 Vega from Turan-Lane Chevrolet salesman Pete Moran, and was well pleased with the deal he got. Mr. Parnell came in and made a deal with Pete Moran on a 1969 Chevy pick-up truck. Whenever a person purchases a vehicle from Turan-Lane Chevrolet, they do their best to offer them the best deal and also the best in service because they want to sell them the next time they buy a vehicle and that is the reason many of Turan-Lane's customers are repeat customers.

It is a pleasure to report that Pearl River has returned to its normal position after being at flood stage for quite a while. The mighty Pearl is clearing rapidly and its tributaries are clear at the head. While fishing for fresh water fish, bass and perch, is back to normal.

As stated before each year after flood stages fishing always improves. The reason we think is that land-locked lakes are over flooded and fish which ordinarily can't be caught are brought to new locations.

Such streams as old River, Waiste House, Bull Frog, and the Bayous at and above Logtown are clear at the head and fresh water fishing is improving daily. The water in Pearl River proper should be good enough to fish in within a few days barring no heavy SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK - Ted Noyes is plant manager for Eljer PLBG at the Bay. Ted is from Scranton, Pa. moved here recently. Misses mountain fishing but gets a kick out of fishing off the hi-way bridge.

Right now bass and perch are being caught on the fly rod and by casting. Caught 22 bass and 19 perch last Wednesday, all nice size. Of Course, the better tide conditions the better fishing. Falling tides are preferable.

As for crabbing, plenty hard crabs are being caught most anywhere. The same doesn't go for soft crabs. They are still scarce.

Floundering is picking up. Incoming tides are best for this sport. Several were caught during the past week.

Salt water fishing has been spasmodic. Speckles and red fish were caught by those going out to the marsh. One party of seven caught only 11 speckles on a two-day trip. Croakers are being caught by those off the seawalls and in the canals at Bayou Caddy plus a few red fish and some flounders. Things look good for some better fishing from now on.

Information came from Jim Rada, he, his wife and grandson caught sheephead near the dam near the mouth of Bayou Lacent. Jim said the sheephead were really biting. He also reported that perch and trout have been caught up Rotten Bayou.

These folks are ardent fishermen and do most any kind of fishing.

It happened twice last week. On Wednesday Alden Maulfray and Yours truly caught 40 green trout and perch and on Sunday they caught 27 bass and 33 various kind of perch. Both days the weather was good and the tide perfect, filling all afternoon.

Young Don Mitchell, 12 1/2 years old caught a 6 1/2 pound bass. He was fishing with Lester Mitchell, Bess Cuevas, and Ella Cuevas.

Alton Morel and Joe Williams made a catch of 131 lbs. of flounders at Cat Island. The fish weighed from 5 to 8 pounds. They were spiced.

J. Burton Angelle, Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission director, announced that oyster fishermen owning leases may be allowed to move leased oysters from one closed area to another closed area to keep them from dying.

The Louisiana Board of Health approved such action in order to conserve the oyster crop from serious damage from freshwater intrusion along the coastal sections of the state. Based on this approval, the commission will begin issuing transplanting permits to bonafide oyster fishermen.

Persons qualifying for such permits may obtain additional information from Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission's Seafoods and Water Bottoms Division, 400 Royal Street, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Curry Credits Copper

If Delta State College's Walden Curry has his way, the wearing of copper bracelets by athletes competing with an injury will become the newest fashion in the sporting world. Curry, who recently won his fifth straight NAIA high jump title, falls into that familiar athletic category known as "superstitious" and a copper bracelet is the focal point in his individual case.

The Bay St. Louis native suffered through the 1973 track and field campaign with petalla tendonitis, or in laymen terms, a stretched muscle located under the left knee.

The copper bracelet came into the picture at the national championships when Coach John Anderson of Troy State University, who also serves as full-time athletic trainer of the institution, removed the bracelet from his wrist and presented it to Curry.

"I told Walden that my left knee, which has required surgery twice, didn't hurt as long as I wore the bracelet," said Anderson, who now must suffer through the title of "Witch Doctor" each time he faces the Statesmen in a meet.

Anderson first examined Curry's knee at the Gulf South Conference meet and recommended an exercise program to strengthen the stretched muscles.

Curry, the only Mississippi athlete to win All-American honors five times, was told that his knee wouldn't get well until he got off it.

"Petalla tendonitis is a type injury which is painful and the athlete must adjust to the pain if he wants to continue jumping," Anderson explained.

Anderson gave Curry his copper bracelet in exchange for a set of neck beads the Statesman jumper possesses. The bargain was that Anderson would get the prized beads if Curry won the national title.

"I'm going to wear them (the beads) next year at the GSC meet in order to live up to my part of the bargain," Anderson quipped.

With the bracelet on his wrist, Curry noted that his knee did feel better and much of the pain had subsided.

Although some skeptics may not believe the theory of the copper bracelet, the swap turned out to be the psychological lift Curry needed since he was facing the greatest pressure in his athletic career.

Following Curry's victory, Anderson rushed to the high jump area and howled, "I expect to see that copper bracelet in the Delta State trophy case when you graduate."

Curry plans to continue wearing the bracelet as long as the knee gives him problems, but his close associates really expect him to wear it until he completes his collegiate career.

"The idea of placing the bracelet in our trophy case isn't bad," says DSC coach O.W. (Wig) Rely. "It certainly has some merit."

There's more to electricity than meets the plug

One of a series of consumer messages especially for customers of Mississippi Power Company

12 "Centsible" Tips on Air Conditioning

During the hot, humid summer months, most of us will use more electricity than at any other time of the year as we seek the comfort of air conditioning. This increased usage of electric service will naturally be reflected in our monthly utility bill. To help you save money on air conditioning this summer and get the most efficient use of your electric service, we offer the following suggestions:

Have your air conditioning equipment inspected and serviced at the beginning of the season. You could prevent an expensive repair bill later. An air conditioning unit in proper working condition will mean better efficiency and lower operating costs.

Don't fail to clean or change air conditioning filters at least once a month. A dirty filter restricts the flow of air and increases operating cost. Clogged filters make air conditioning units work harder and may lead to serious and expensive repairs.

Don't play with the thermostat. For economy, set the thermostat at the highest comfortable temperature, usually about 78 degrees. Also, when starting your air conditioner, do not set the thermostat to a colder setting than normal. This will only make the unit run longer, not cool any faster.

If your air conditioner has been shut off during a cool night, give it an early start the next morning before a new day's summer heat fills the house.

To help keep intense attic heat from other parts of your house, use a thermostatically-controlled attic exhaust fan adjusted to draw out the hot air. Also, use a vented exhaust fan to remove excessive heat and moisture in the kitchen and bathroom areas.

Make certain that you have free passage of air to and from your unit both inside and outside your house. Window drapes and furniture can block the air flow inside. Outdoor sections of cooling equipment need space for the flow of air, so keep plants, walls, or other obstructions away.

Your air conditioning unit must work extra hard to combat heat from direct sunlight. Awnings, shutters, and drapes over windows provide the best protection from sun's rays. Keep them drawn during the sunniest part of the day.

Buy the proper size air conditioning unit; one that gives you the correct number of BTU's for the area to be cooled. Avoid buying an oversized unit. Remember: the larger the unit, the more it costs to operate.

Weatherstrip windows and doors, especially large glass ones. Keep them closed as much as possible. Otherwise, you let hot air inside — cool air outside — and waste dollars. Check your weatherstripping to see if it is worn and needs replacing.

Adequate insulation will result in lower operating costs. Usually six inches of insulation in the ceiling and four inches in walls is suggested. The cost of insulation is usually recovered by lower cooling (and heating) costs.

Light bulbs and television sets generate heat, so don't leave them on unnecessarily, and don't forget to close the door when going outside or when the youngsters come inside.

If your cooling unit stops running, check the breaker or fuses and reset. If it stops again after resetting, call your repairman. Do not reset a second time. And remember to study the manufacturer's instruction book — this tells you most accurately how to efficiently run your cooling equipment.
